

A wide-angle photograph of a snowy ski slope. The slope is marked with numerous blue cones and has several parallel tracks from skis. In the background, there is a wooden building with a brown roof, surrounded by tall evergreen trees under a clear blue sky. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.

TO BE CALEDONIAN

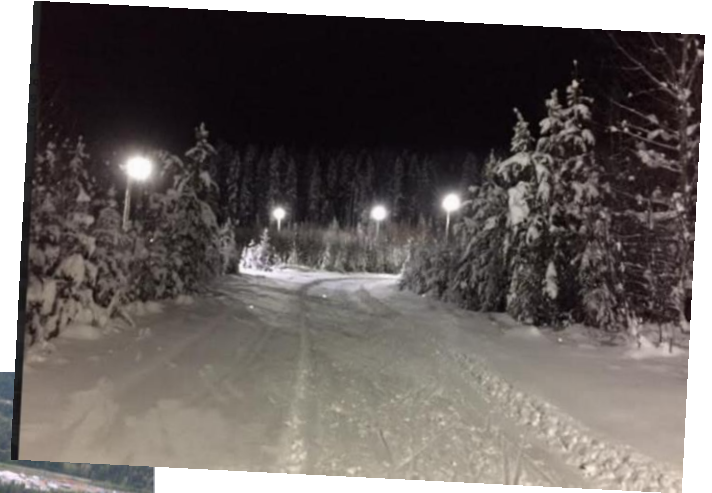

A Caledonian is an active person, they are fit and a vision of health. Welcoming, warm, caring and with a great sense of humour, they are admired and respected by their peers for their congeniality, unflappability, and ethical behaviour. They approach challenges enthusiastically, but with a measured response- considering all options and choosing the best course of action- not just for themselves but for all involved.

First Northern Sport Leadership Awards bestowed

In February Jared Algra set his sights on the target at the bathlon range during the 2015 Canada Winter Games in Prince George and helped Team BC place fourth in the men's relay.

This fall, the 18-year-old product is back in action, returning to his home town of Okway, BC, to pursue his Bachelor of Science in Physics at UNBC.

Algra is the first recipient of the UNBC Northern Sport Leadership Award – the first of its kind – that was created in thanks to the successful fund-raising campaign led by UNBC and the Caledonia Nordic Ski Club.

After his Canada Games experience, Algra was already considering UNBC as a possible destination for his post-secondary studies, but the leadership award sealed the deal.

"I chose to come to UNBC because of the excellent bathlon facility at Okway, which and study at the same time," he said.

Team leader, from Prince George, was the first to familiar with both UNBC and Okway her first year of studies this fall. A Krietz, who is currently for Team BC at the Canada Winter Games, and a guide for a bathlon in a para-biathlon event.

Krietz was a member of the Junior National Talent Squad last winter and is the first recipient of a second $1,000 Northern Sport Leadership Award.

A biochemistry student, Krietz wants to pursue a career as a registered dietitian and said it was an easy decision to stay close to home.

"UNBC has a beautiful campus, with access to so many great resources and great outdoor spaces," she said.

The initial fundraising target of $150,000 was exceeded last year thanks to the many Caledonia and Northern Sport Club members who contributed, as well as a $5,000 contribution from Enterprise North West Gateway Initiative. The program at UNBC Legacy Fund welcomes donations with the goal of establishing additional awards in future years.
